

'Us' is a pair of tiny sculptures that represent the intimate connection between the artist and his family across the globe in India.

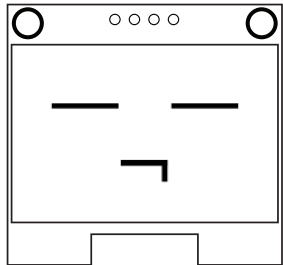

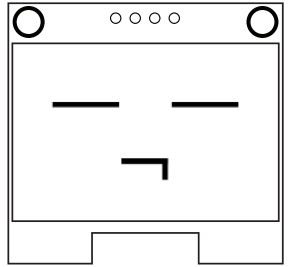

By pressing a button on his side, the sleeping face that represents him will wake up, signaling to his family that he is awake, alive, and available for a call. This works the other way as well.

Press the red button on one side for 10 seconds and see the other wake up.

This two-way communication provides a sense of closeness and comfort, despite the physical distance between them.
